We keep receiving books for review from various publishers. However some books are of such paramount importance that we at the journal office thought one review may not be able to do justice to that book. One opinion may be slanted, perhaps by the individual tastes and preferences of the reviewer. Reviewers from different continents, nations, even different parts of the same nation may perceive a book differently. Why not send books to two or more different reviewers and get their opinion. We requested several authors/publishers to do that and they gladly obliged.

In our sister publication "Anil Aggrawal's Internet Journal of Forensic Medicine and Toxicology", we have been featuring books for quite some time now. However in THIS journal, the current book is the first one to be featured. We hope to continue featuring books in our subsequent editions.

Taking the lead from our sister publication, from the current issue we are starting reviews of certain books of paramount importance as "featured books". The first book to be featured on our journal is The Second Highest World War - The Rama Theatre by Anoop Chandola (Published by Authors Choice Press, an imprint of iUniverse, Inc.).

The book was sent to two reviewers - a unique husband and wife team - both lovers of fiction in general and Asian Fiction in particular. Here are both the reviews.
