We keep receiving books for review from various publishers. However some books are of such paramount importance that we at the journal office thought one review may not be able to do justice to that book. One opinion may be slanted, perhaps by the individual tastes and preferences of the reviewer. Reviewers from different continents, nations, even different parts of the same nation may perceive a book differently. Why not send books to two or more different reviewers and get their opinion. We requested several publishers to do that and they obliged.

From Volume 3, Number 1, January - June 2002, we started reviews of certains books of paramount importance as "featured books". The first book to be featured on our journal was Ecotoxicology: The Study of Pollutants in Ecosystems by F. Moriarty (Published by Academic Press). Review of that book, as well as the combined index of reviews of all featured books can be accessed by clicking here.

Till now we had been featuring books in our journal, but from this issue we started featured reviews of two more categories - multimedia and electronic books. The first multimedia to be featured in our journal is Dissection of the Human Brain (DVD), by Lennart Heimer, MD, which is being featured in this very issue. The first E-book to be featured in our journal is The Man in the iron mask by Alexandre Dumas which is also being featured in this very issue - right here.

The classical, famous book - The Man in the iron mask by Alexandre Dumas (Published by Rogue Publishing), was sent to two reviewers from two different continents. Both of them are leading lights in their subjects and are widely respected all over the world. They are Nigel Cockerton of UK and Samantha South of USA.

The reviewers were not only requested to send us detailed reviews, but were asked to rate this book on a scale of ten. The following rating scale was provided to the reviewers.
